Edinburgh Zoo

Edinburgh Zoo is one of the U.K.'s oldest and most famous zoos. It is home to over 1000 unusual animals, including Malayan sun bears, Asiatic lions and the only giant pandas in the U.K. But Edinburgh Zoo has a very special relationship with one particular type of animal: the penguin. This was the first zoo in the U.K. to house and breed penguins when it opened in 1913!

Fun facts about dolphins

Nearly 40 species of dolphins swim the waters of the world. Most live in the shallow areas of tropical and temperate oceans and five species live in rivers. They are as intelligent as apes and their The Wright brothers brains are very similar to humans. Dolphins are carnivores. Fish, squid, and crustaceans are included in their list of prey. Dolphins are very social, living in groups that hunt and even play together.

The Loch Ness Mystery

In 1933, in the Highlands of Scotland, near the small town of Inverness, the manager of the Drumnadrochit Hotel, near Loch Ness, noticed a strange creature swimming in the lake, similar to a whale. Tales of the 'monster' soon spread. Later that year, a local man took a photograph of Nessie, the lake's monster, showing a large body and a long tail and neck. But does Nessie really exist?

The Top Strangest Festivals

On the last Wednesday in August, in Buñol, near Valencia in Spain, thousands of locals and tourists throw tomatoes at each other in honour of the Virgin Mary. This festival is called La Tomatina. Water cannons signal the beginning of the fight. Women usually wear white clothes and men wear no shirts at all. In about an hour the town gets covered in tomatoes until fire brigades come to wash everything away.
